“When people are made to feel cared for, nurtured and growing, that will serve the organization well. If you feel uniquely seen, understood, valued and appreciated, then that will hook you into being committed to that team, leader and program. This is how positive emotion works.”

ESPN II

It's not a lecture or a keynote. It's the leader that makes the difference. It's the leader that must drive the culture.

Your Most Important Job

Your most important job as a leader is to drive the culture—and not just any culture. You must create a positive culture that energizes and encourages people, fosters connected relationships and great teamwork, empowers and enables people to learn and grow, and provides an opportunity for people to do their best work. Culture is not just one thing; it's everything. Culture drives expectation and beliefs. Expectations and beliefs drive behaviors. Behaviors drive habits. And habits create the future. It all starts with the culture you create and drive throughout the organization. That's where all success and great results begin.
